Gross; By His Medical Friends in Commemoration of His Fifty-First Year in the Profession, April 10, 1879 The Committee having in charge the arrangements of the Complimentary Dinner given to Professor S. D. Gross in commemoration of his fifty-first year in the profession of medicine, beg to present to those who participated in the ceremonies of that most interesting occasion, the following account. In so doing, they feel that they will best carry out the wishes of all in placing in their hands a permanent record of an event, memorable in the medical annals of this city and country. In days to come the perusal of this record will recall vividly the scenes of that evening - the assemblage of so many of the most distinguished members of the medical profession of this city and country - the sincere and heartfelt expressions of regard and affection - the warm and hearty congratulations offered in person, by letter and dispatch, to him in whose honor the dinner was given. It had been the intention of Professor Gross s friends to have extended to him the compliment of a dinner on the occasion of his semi-centennial professional birthday; domestic bereavement, however, compelled them to postpone the intended celebration until this year, commemorating thereby his fifty-first year in the profession of medicine. At a meeting of the Surgical Club, in February, a committee, consisting of Drs. D. H. Agnew, R. J. Levis, and T. G. Morton, was appointed to confer with Prof. Gross, ascertain his wishes in the matter, and take charge of the arrangements for the dinner. About the Publisher...
